“ i thought the loss of my brother was hardest, but this loss of my mama is the deepest pain . i feel i have failed her and when she needed me most i was not there' i should have taken her to the hospital that night. i should have refused to leave after visiting hours at 8pm whatever you do. do not put your love ones in west bury rehabilitation on milstead. the night nurse zane has not proper training and left my mom to groan and moan in pain. i have been reporting this and i shall continuing reporting it till i get to the very top. the job will be qualified with one better fitted with the job, i have proof that her emergency button had not been on her for over 6 days. do not send your loved ones there. they are left to die. now i am left with all the pain and guilt of what if should i could i. why didnt i. its a horrible pain to feel resposinsible for not stepping up and opening your mouth. i did putting in two complaints. i also did call zane at 2 am asking for momrs pain meds. to which nothing was done. i have asked for charts to see when and how much pain meds wre ministered. i got a call two days after the funeral from athens doctor for her appointment. they were in complete shock she died. there was no reason for her death .

“ What words can you say when God gave me the best mama in the world. She is beautiful, ministering hands to anyone in need. Worked hard but gave it away with joy to us all. Refused to take a penny. Educated herself on how to be the best mama. Taught me faith in the Lord. She taught the children to love one another. We never thought to raise our hands at each other. We were one for all and all for one. She did that. Every one wished to be like us siblings. There is no praise enough to say about Mama. She never had a title or degree, but she was considered by God to be his hand maiden. Her hands worked hard tirelessly when people were in need. She is the one who we went to for warmth & love. I know she's with Eddie her son in heaven. Her parents siblings our large family gone. I love mama. She's with Jesus now. Seeing Glory. I am here. My heart longs for this incredible Mama. God thank you she was mine. You used her and she was obedient and raised us to love you. I know she's finally there. My heart aches. She's got a title and degree now. Mama and your child The most highest title there is. CEO is nothing compared to those who do your work. I know I will see her soon. I'm proud to be her daughter. Dorothy Stephenson

“ Mama Negia was a bright light in all family matters., Weary of what could be and what was wrong. Deeply concerned for the Lord being first in all these matters,& safety of her family. With love abounding more so in all things. With a Godly discernment for her family's well being. So much so she denied herself in all things. Seeing what was lacking she saved her money to purchase things needed for her family, going without herself. Tirelessly working and cleaning with her hands. Also tireless healing with her hands foreknowledge given by the Lord before the soul that needed it knew to ask. In my opinion as her adopted son, she was a mother a friend that holds the highest degree of mother in motherhood.The true call of a Godly mother. Her words to me , she saw that I didn't have a mother and stood in the gap and said she was my mother with love for me as I was her own son. Scott Stephenson

“ I loved Negia's "happy go lucky attitude"...She stayed at our house when I was a teenager, and shared a room with Patty and I. We had a good time laughing and cutting up at night before going to sleep. She could keep you laughing...she will be greatly missed...

“ My great aunt but to me she was a lot closer than that. My mom passed away when I was only 3. Negia was always there. She helped me so much in school. We spent practically everyday together. When we would go to Florida, Negia always was the one who would take me around the strip. She was so much fun, just full of energy. She would dance around in the store. Lol. She was more like a mom to me.
