“ So... My fondest memories of Daddy were, 1st he taught me to drive a manual shift at 9 (a tractor). Then an 18 wheeler at age 14. He and Mommy allowed me to drive to a country store solo at the age 12-14 ish with a signed nite and list of what they wanted. Daddy taught me to ride horses and bought me one in my early teens. Her name was Star and he spoiled her rotten. But most of all, in my mind Daddy was a super hero. One day he was doing work under a car, and he had the car on blocks of wood like a tree trunk. The car slipped and the car fell on him. I remember screaming and Mommy ran to sliding glass door and we both saw Daddy lift that car off his chest just enough to slide out. I was like "wow"!!! No one could tell me anything about him from that point forward! Thank you Daddy for loving all of your children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren infinitely! You have left footprints too large to fill, but a legacy that we will forever be proud to follow!!! I love you Daddy!!!

“ May the peace of God comfort all of you during this difficult time. Dad had a lot of wisdom and a great sense of humor. He made me laugh a lot sitting around the kitchen table talking with him and mom. Rest in Heaven. Thank You Lord for the cross!

“ I will forever cherish our last moments together. Our very last conversation. Your last visit with me. A bond between sisters & brothers are deeper than one could know. No matter the distance, time or space there is a strong connection that intertwines within. You were the split image of our dad. Strong will and determine to never fail. Much wisdom about the nature of life for outdoors was your happy place. It was funny how things always seems to go as you said it would go. Your theory was always right! Well the truth be known you was a wise and very knowledgeable man that contribute so much to everyone. Loving you always.....your lil sis. Karen (lil Kay)

“ Blessings to the family. While I didn't know the brother, I yet extend sincere condolences to the family. His sister is a vital part of ministry here in Savannah, Georgia. We love Karen and when she hurts, we all hurt. On behalf of the entire Temple of Glory Community Church Family, we do sympathize with you in this time of bereavement. Please accept our expressions of comfort and encouragement during this time.

“ The Ole Man will be missed, and his passing reminds me of the quote "Family means No one gets left behind or forgotten, this is so true of our blended family able to put aside obstacles, personal disagreements, everyone in this family made sure Mr. and Mrs. Morell were treasured and provided for. No ones life is perfect because sometimes problems don't require a solution to solve them: instead they require maturity and love to outgrow them" I am proud of everyone

Kathy Holliday - March 31 at 12:35 PM

“ Uncle Willie you will be truly missed by your favorite niece, (just kidding yall). But no, I will always carry you with me in my heart and never forget how you would say " Hey Gal, how you do"???

Staci Steed - March 31 at 12:19 PM

“ When I was a child, I HATED yard work of any kind. Y’all, I used to be out there sobbing while mowing the lawn! But then I would think of my grandfather, who would spend hours every single day working outside. And in that Savannah heat too! I literally once watched this man capture and kill a rattlesnake, laughing the whole time. (Y’all know I was watching from inside the house, looking through the window). This man was fearless and hardworking and upstanding and such a jokester. What a crucial part of my upbringing you were, Granddad. You left your mark on this world, and you must be so proud. The courage and wisdom you’ve instilled into this family will continue to be passed on for generations. Rest in Power, old man.
