“ Glenn, my sincerest condolences to you and your family. I was just thinking about her in the last couple of weeks and was saddened to learn that she had just passed. It was a privilege, an honor, and a joy to have been involved in her care.

“ Glenn, I'm SOOOO sorry for your and your family's loss. Amy was such an angel. My youngest daughter, Zuri, loved being in "Miss Amy's" Sunday School Class at Trinity Baptist Church. Amy always made her classes interesting by allowing her students to participate in fun art activities. The hand-painted tiles which Amy and her students made are still on the walls of one of the restrooms at Trinity Baptist Church. It warms my heart every time I look at the tile bearing Zuri 's name and remember how much fun she had with "Miss Amy." Amy will be sorely missed. I am praying for you and your family.

“ Glenn and family, I am so sorry for the loss of the jewel of your family. Proverbs says when you find a good wife she is worth more than precious jewels and she will not hinder husband but will help him. I did not know her but from your comments about her, I know she was a true helpmate.

“ I am forever grateful for Amy. She pushed me to have a “real” wedding when I was planning just us and Sonny. She did everything to make it a beautiful evening. She had such a huge, kind heart💕

“ I first met Amy many years ago at Trinity Baptist Church where she served as Sunday School teacher to young children and was loved by all those children and greatly appreciated by all adults. I had her youngest son Josh in my class of 3 year olds. Much later in the Trinity family we were in the same adult class together and always felt that we could share each others struggles and be supportive when challenges were overwhelming. When our mutual friend Teena Lee held classes to teach us how to play mahjong we both attended and came to enjoy the game and the fellowship that again brought us together. Amy was so strong in the last many years as she dealt with health issues that limited her active social life but we always enjoyed being together, phone visits and texting. I along with many other friends will miss Amy and I offer my heartfelt sympathies to Glen, Robbie, Tonya, Josh and all the family.
