

Bella Mackenzie Page

July 3, 2004 - December 20, 2011

Our sweet angel Bella has gone to Heaven. Bella was a gift from God that came to deliver a message of peace, kindness, compassion, love and the importance of every day of life. She delivered this message with radiant beauty and without speaking a word. She was in charge of bettering her families life and leading us down the path to goodness. She did that gracefully without ever taking a step. Bella blessed the lives of those that knew her and all that knew her story. Thank you Lord for the time you gave us with our wonderful Bella. Thank you Bella for being the strength of our family. Mommy, Daddy, your sister, your brother and all of your family and friends are better because we love you. Go run and play sweet heart for now you can. Keep watching after us as we will always follow your lead. " Fly baby bird, fly"

To my niece and her remarkable parents,

Sometimes in the course of a lifetime a few people are given the rare opportunity to experience the extraordinary, the indescribable. In these moments, these fleeting glimpses of true grace and beauty, one comes to know life in a way that leaves a permanent impression, a mark on one's heart that the whole world can see. Having Bella Mackenzie Page in this world was of these rare and extraordinary experiences. Those of us who were lucky enough to have had her touch our lives are left with hearts so much fuller and so much richer, and left with a mark that will shine brighter than any star, just as Bella did. Thank you, Bella. Thank you Tom and Laurie for demonstrating how true love works. The strength and compassion of your hearts is unmatched.

Love Aunt Brenda
