“Mrs. Hammonds was a great woman and teacher who knew how to make home economics fun. She motivated her students with love and patience while teaching them sewing, cooking and the basics of running a home that we would use the rest of our lives. Gone from this world but forever in my heart. Thank you Mrs. Hammond. ❤️

“June was a fantastic Home Economics Teacher and person!!! She touched many lives and many of her students went on to study Home Economics or just be touched by her!! I went on to teach Home Economics at Rockdale for 8 years after June had left teaching. I still run a Window Treatment business inspired by my sewing and decorating background which started with June. Many of us students have wonderful memories of June!!! She was a wonderful Lady, a great Teacher and a good Friend!!

“ I loved June Hammonds and you too, Freddie. You were and are very special people. I have so many fond memories from being a student in Mrs. Hammonds Home Economics' classes and far beyond that through her attendance at our reunions and just seeing her in different places in the community. She was a devoted teacher, wife, a truly good person and just a beautiful soul. Love you and will miss you. Margaret Padgett Laskey.

“ Ms Hammonds was such a great influence on me as I learned to sew and that reminds my lifelong skill. She told us as soon as our feet hit the floor to make up the bed. I have done it ever since. Wonderful lady that was a great teacher and leader. Fondly

June was my 8th grade teacher. Loving, kind and caring. I still have my apron we made. I also remember that she issued a challenge to those of us who were nail biters to stop.as that was her project too. I met the challenge. Later she married a local boy--I still call you Freddy--we were also friends as well. My thoughts and prayers go out to you and the family. God Bless.

Mrs. Hammonds was a great teacher. She really knew how to make home economics a fun class. She was patient with us as we navigated the sewing and cooking skills we would use for years to come. Forever in my heart. Wanda Anthony Welch Class of 1972 ❤️
