“ Linda was my aunt, but much more like my big sister. I remember a lot of things about her and sharing happy times with her as a child and as an adult. She taught me many things -- how to paper-piece a quilt, how to make pimento cheese and the best way to make grilled cheese sandwiches. The one thing she never taught me was how to like buttermilk!!! I will miss our long talks, going to Reelfoot Arts and Crafts and all your good advice -- love you Lin.

“ I will always remember Linda’s competitiveness on the tennis courts. Through the years I have played many matches with, but mostly against, Linda. Many years ago Ruth Ann and I played weekly fun doubles matches against Linda and Carolyn Redfearn and occasionally we would win a set but if we were lucky enough to split sets I don’t ever remember winning the third set! Linda won because she played smart and had all the shots but mostly because she did not want to lose and could always “up her game”! I admired both her determination and her skills. On the courts she was ferocious, off the courts she was sensitive and sweet! I’m sure the family knew well and remembers fondly both sides of her! I will miss her! Muff McFarlin
