“ I will always love my Legs! She was always the life of the party and growing up next door to her I loved listening to her stories. She should have written a book about her life. She was the "cool" cousin, the one that lived life her own way and not by anyone else's rules. I remember visiting her in California and introducing this country girl to fine dining. She was an amazing chef. We will always love you Legs!

Legs and I were close friends in the mid 70's. We were the same age, had the same taste in music and did so many fun things together. I had looked, unsuccessfully, for her for a few years lately but didn't find her. Someone sent me this obituary, which I was so sad to see. Her photo in it was terrific and I knew it was Legs from the second I saw it. She worked for my boyfriend, who sadly died from Covid last year. He had also tried to find her. Now maybe they've found one another! Very fond memories are now stirred!❤️
