“ Wayne, I was just a little girl when you came to our house many years ago. I often wondered how you were and where life lead you. I was talking to my sisters about you a couple weeks ago. We were laughing about me searching the couch for change after their boy friends went home. Yes, guilty as charged. Those were some great times. I had no idea until then that you were sick. May you rest in peace and your family find comforting in knowing you are no longer suffering.
